Snowmobile Vermont

By Bill Schultz

This September, on the way back from a wedding at Cape Cod, I thought I would look into snowmobiling on the east coast. I originally thought to snowmobile from New York through Vermont and New Hampshire to Maine -- too far. So then I thought New York and Vermont only. I talked with the main person at the New York State Snow Association who could not help me but suggested other people. They all talked me out of making a tour in New York State. Their trails dead-end, are not marked well and are not maintained well.

Vermont is the exact opposite. Members of the Vermont Association of Snow Travelers (VAST) did everything possible to help get information about snowmobiling in Vermont. The people of Vermont were all friendly, helpful and very involved in snowmobiling.

I have tentatively set up a Snofari through Vermont. We would travel to Vermont one weekend, snowmobile through the state on five weekdays and drive home the following weekend. We would snowmobile between mountains, over mountains, to and through quaint towns that have old fashioned general stores that are very neat and clean, stay at some motels but also at some rustic inns that are clean and updated but still look old fashioned, cross rustic bridges spanning rivers and creeks.

All this traveling is done on well-marked trails that must be groomed at least two times a week, most of them three times. The destinations each night are about 100 miles apart so there is plenty of time to sight-see. If we arrive too early, those who want could tour the area by sled some more.

If you have any interest in this trip, please let me know. I would set up a tentative date. If the temperature would be 40 below or 40 above or snow conditions were not ideal, the trip would be rescheduled.

GUYS' RIDE

December 15th -19th, 2004

Location will be determined on December 13, 2004. If you think you may like to go, please call me before December 13, 2004. I will call you on December 13, 2004 and give you the location and the cost of a room. At that time you can decide to go or not. No deposit is needed.

A great opportunity to try your new sled or see if your old sled is in top condition for the season. We normally have lots of guys, so everyone can find a group that rides the speed and distance you desire or bring your own group. We ride during the day; evenings are spent telling stories, making future plans, eating and drinking.
