The early results indicate the Smelt Fry went well and profits should be about the same as last year. The Smelt Fry itself doesn't actually make that much money, but draws in customers for the raffle and beer/soda sales. It's actually a bit difficult to figure out the profits from the actual Smelt Fry, since some smelt and beer is consumed at the cleaning the day before, some supplies and beer/soda leftovers end up at the picnic and corn roast, some of the non-food items (napkins, forks, etc) and left over from last year or are kept for next, and so forth.

Up until about 7 p.m. the line was fairly constant, after 7 we had perhaps twenty more customers, but existing customers stayed, ate more, played the raffle more, so we don't want to close earlier.

We went out and purchased additional salad items, because they were getting low at 6 p.m., but then when the line mostly ended at 7 we didn't really use the extra.

The future of the smelt fry is always re-evaluated each year, but there is the additional factor now that the location we have for cleaning on Thursday may be gone in two years or so, since Dennis Wankowski who generously allows us use of his property (to the delight of all the neighborhood cats) will be moving from the area.

It's been suggested that we should not do carry-outs, since those folks just take food and don't stay for the raffles, etc. More importantly we should look at what else we might want to do for a fundraiser, assuming we want something to continue to subsidize the picnic, corn roast, and Christmas party. Without something equivalent in earning to the smelt fry, we would need to charge for these events to cover the cost.

We plan on doing a survey regarding this and what else we can do to attract and retain members. Please do give some thought and time when that happens, your input is important.
